

SC Representative Karl Allen

Dear Rep. Allen,
Please enter my written statement in to the record as I am out of state for business and unable to attend the hearing.

I am writing in my capacity as Chairman of the Greenville County Democratic Party, and I encourage you and the Members of the SC General Assembly to handle the issue of redistricting in a fair, representative, and legal manner. My hope is that when you consider the boundaries for SC House District 23, SC House District 25, SC Senate District 7, or any legislative district for that matter, you take in to account the history and sense of community those current boundaries represent. The residents of these communities live together, work together, go to school together, play together, and worship together. To split up communities for the purpose of one's political advantage would be a violation of the sacred trust which exists between you and your constituents.

Please act responsibly when you and all the Members of the SC General Assembly begin to consider redistricting this year.

Sincerely,

Kevin S. Mertens
Chair, Greenville County Democratic Party

If "Communities of interest" are a consideration, then what about the community of interest shared by the people of Greenville County itself?

Congressional districts

With the S.C. General Assembly now having seven congressional districts to draw instead of only six, it makes little sense to keep the most populous county (Greenville) and the fourth most populous county (Spartanburg) yoked together in the same district in any fashion.

According to the 2010 Census numbers, Greenville and Spartanburg counties combined contain around 75,000 too many people to fit in one congressional district. Many in the General Assembly apparently propose that 75,000 people from Greenville be placed in the 3rd Congressional District so that Greenville and Spartanburg can otherwise remain intact and together in the 4th District. The best solution for Greenville-Spartanburg, however, is to separate the two counties completely. Spartanburg should be joined with Cherokee, Union, York, Chester and part of Laurens or Newberry counties to form a new 5th District. That way, Greenville could be joined with Pickens, Oconee and part of Laurens or Anderson counties to form a new 4th District.

The population numbers work. What's more, the two congressional districts would be more geographically compact than most.

Under this plan, the voting strength of neither Greenville County nor Spartanburg County would be diluted — and because each county would be by far the largest in its congressional district, each would stand an excellent chance of producing the congressman for its district.

Simply put, the Greenville-Spartanburg area would find itself in a strong position to send two representatives to the U.S. House. That's how things should be for two of the state's four most populous counties, particularly when the state today has seven congressional districts to work with.

The perfect mission

Would I be truculent to say that, like the stopped clock that is correct twice a day, even President Barack Obama can hit one from midcourt on rare occasion? Yes, I would be, so I'll apologize and highly commend the president and his staff for conducting the perfect raid.

The intelligence was world class, the planning was all-encompassing, the execution was immaculate, the decision to bury

Osama bin Laden at sea with Muslim rites was very wise and decent, and the decision to withhold photos of the body was very savvy and chaste. I can only praise our president for what may be "his finest hour."

My next letter will probably be truculent (from my thesaurus), but I'm sure I'll have a good reason.

As you begin the redistricting process, McCormick County Council requests that you leave McCormick County intact. Since McCormick County is the smallest county in the state, we feel that would provide us the greatest opportunity to have a voice in the political process.

Rep Clemmons, Thank you for holding the meeting last night. I appreciate the opportunity to have spoken. I wish however I had spoken nearer the end of the meeting so I could have voiced my outrage at what I heard from some who spoke after me. I considered asking to speak a second time but I realize that would have only created others demanding a second time at the microphone. First I heard multiple speakers asking that SC House Districts be redrawn because they believed their political party is unable to win enough seats. At least three people were asking that House District 60 be redrawn for that reason. I cannot object more to that reasoning. It appears the current House District 60 is poorly drawn. Whenever possible EVERY house district should follow natural boundaries (ie not cross natural geographic boundaries such as rivers or lakes, man made boundaries such as Interstate Highways or major industrial complexes which divide communities and neighborhoods). Secondly Districts should not cross political boundaries such as county or city limits when possible. So it seems District 60 as it currently exists may be poorly drawn and should be corrected. BUT IT SHOULD NOT BE CHANGED FOR POLITICAL GAIN OF ONE PARTY OR ANOTHER. The Committee should totally disregard all comments that call for any adjustment to District lines so one party or another can gain. Follow the rules of compact contiguous districts which share common values. Secondly, the vitriolic diatribe by City Councilman Robertson has no place in any civil forum. His blatant racism is abhor able. Every member of the Committee should totally disregard his remarks and each of you should in fact publicly condemn them. His claim that all you have to do is look where he lives versus where the Republicans live. My wife and I live in a wonderful neighborhood in a fantastic house. We have that privledge because of out hard work not due to political affiliation. I grew up in a house without running water. My father worked in a factory all his life, I was fortunate enought to eb drafted into the Army (yes I did say fortunate) and ended up making it a career. Throught hard work and dedication I ended up retiring from the Army as a Colonel following 26 years on ACTIVE duty. I then had a successful career with my own business. My wife put her career on hold to raise out children and to move about every 2 years from Army assingment to Army assignment. Once she reentered the work force and worked her way up the ladder to become the Budget Director of Georgetown University followed by becoming the Associate Treasuser of Catholic University Of America. I give you this personal background to let you know where my rage comes from when Councilman Robinson levels such outrageous claims. We EARNED what we have by hard work! I ask no applause or congratulations BUT I accept no attempt by a blatant racist like Robinson to shame me. He lives where he lives by his choice and probaly his failure. As to the concerns about voting precinct being in multiple districts, while I agree it causes a problem that should not be taken into account in drawing House Districts. The local election office can and should adjust precincts AFTER the House Districts are redrawn. Please ensure a copy of this email is forwarded to each member of the committee. Each of you have a sworn responsibility to get this right and if you allow political or racial issue to sway you then you are no better then the political and racially biased speakers you heard last night. In fact, if you allow those issues to impact your action you are worse then them. I further ask that this message be included as an addendum to alst night's meeting Again, thank you for holding the meeting and allowing us to speak. Dear Rep. Clemmons,

Thank you and your committee for coming to Myrtle Beach this past week to seek input from our area regarding Redistricting of House of Representatives District serving our political area/

As we all know ...the growth in certain parts of Horry and Georgetown Counties will require some re-redesign of Districts. Which will probably lead to a new House Seat in Horry County.

In looking at our two counties and with the prospect of a NEW Congressional District 7 being made up of ...Horry, Georgetown, Florence, Darlington, Marion, Dillon and Chesterfield...we must consider in ANY redrawing of lines of the impact on the counties, districts and the voters within those areas.

The Waccamaw Neck area of Georgetown County has had an explosion of growth since the last census, much like Horry County and the Carolina Forest area.

We would NOT want to see House Seat 108 district lines change in the Waccamaw Neck area. House Seat 106 should stay in Horry County.

We do support maintaining House Seat 108 on the Waccamaw Neck (coastline), parts of Georgetown City (not all) and along the coast to Mt. Pleasant. This is much the same design as the current Congressional District 1. The growth of this area is much the same therefore looking for and wanting the same support from its Representatives.

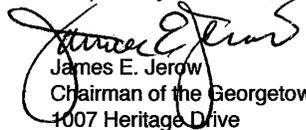

We support Georgetown County to be part of the NEW Congressional District 7. We support keeping House Seat (100%) on the Waccamaw Neck, parts of City of Georgetown (coast) and the coastline to Mt. Pleasant.

We do not support moving House Seat 106 into Georgetown County.

We think this process will help House Seat 103 which needs growth in number to grow more in Georgetown County making both House Seats stronger for their voters.

You and your committee have a tremendous job and we wish you luck.

Subject: Congressional Redistricting

After attending two public hearings on Congressional Redistricting sponsored by the State Senate and State House of Representatives and after hearing from many influential members of the community outside of these hearings, it was apparent to me that the attached Resolution was highly appropriate for adoption by the Greenville County Council. When the Resolution came to the floor of Council, all members were enthusiastic and asked that it be passed by acclamation, which under our rules signifies emphatic support. We believe that as the elected representatives of our citizens, this Resolution should be granted great respect and consideration in re-drawing of the Congressional lines.

Thank you for your kind consideration for the wishes of the citizens of Greenville County.

A RESOLUTION

IN SUPPORT OF ENCOURAGING THE SOUTH CAROLINA GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO INCLUDE ALL OF GREENVILLE COUNTY IN A SINGLE CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

WHEREAS, the South Carolina General Assembly is currently in the process of redrawing district voting lines based on data from the 2010 census showing population growth and population changes in this State;

WHEREAS, as a result of the growth of the population of the Upstate, the General Assembly must redraw the boundaries of the 4th Congressional District as its population now exceeds the ideal population for each of South Carolina's seven congressional districts;

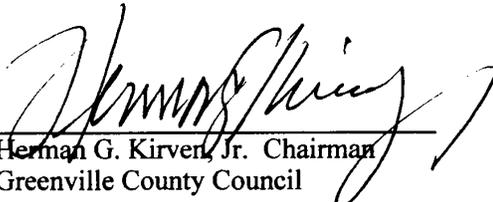

WHEREAS, Greenville County citizens have traditionally been represented by a single congressman;

WHEREAS, Greenville County contains many communities of interest that are each an integral part of the County as a whole, and including Greenville County in its entirety in one congressional district would maintain the integrity of these communities; and

WHEREAS, continuing to include all of Greenville County in one congressional district would ensure fair representation for the citizens of this County.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT THE GREENVILLE COUNTY COUNCIL encourages the South Carolina General Assembly to include all of Greenville County in one congressional district.

THE GREENVILLE NEWS EDITORIAL

Don't carve up Greenville County

The state House map that would carve up Greenville County and put it in two congressional districts is only the first public draft of the proposed new political boundaries for South Carolina. That's a good thing because this proposal just won't work.

Greenville County should remain in one congressional district by the time the redistricting of our state's congressional districts is over. Greenville County's legislative delegation owes it to the residents of Greenville County to work as if their political lives depend on it to bring a large measure of justice and common sense to this redistricting process.

Political district lines are redrawn every 10 years after the U.S. Census shows the impact of population changes on existing voting districts. The big battles most often concern congressional districts, but smaller though still important skirmishes take place around the need for new lines for state legislative seats and even local government councils.

South Carolina's population has grown considerably over the past 10 years, and the exciting news is that our state will get an additional congressman. Because the most explosive growth has taken place along the coast, it's no surprise that the new congressional district will most likely include Horry County and more northeastern counties.

The 4th Congressional District that now includes Greenville, Spartanburg and Union counties, as well as a slice of Laurens County, obviously will have to be divided to achieve a new district of roughly 660,000 people. A perfect solution would be to have the metro counties of Greenville and Spartanburg in one congressional district, but any redistricting plan will not accommodate that idea. The two counties have about 75,000 more people than fit in one voting district.

In public hearings leading up to the drawing of new voting boundaries, Greenville County residents have voiced strong support for keeping our county intact. That support was echoed recently in a unanimous resolution by Greenville County Council. The resolution was on target when it said, "Continuing to include all of Greenville County in one congressional district would ensure fair representation for the citizens of the county."

The state's tremendous growth over the past decade will force Greenville and Spartanburg counties apart for the first time. Various suggestions have been floated: Many leave Greenville County intact and shave a part off Spartanburg County.

Some slice off the southern-most part of each county. One idea even calls for the two counties to remain whole but in separate congressional districts.

A non-starter in this debate is the plan that jumped off the drawing board last week in the state House of Representatives. In it, Spartanburg County would remain whole, while much of the population-dense Golden Strip of Greenville County would be put in the 3rd Congressional District.

Such a plan would drive a wedge in Greenville County, would lessen its political power, would damage its ability to effectively influence some economic decisions and most likely would diminish the power of the large minority communities in Greenville County. As Ennis Fant, a former state representative from Greenville who now is co-chairman of the African-American Pastor Leadership Conference, told The Greenville News, "I don't think this dog will hunt."

It won't. The House plan is just a proposal at this point — and one that must wind its way through various votes in the House. The state Senate will develop its own plan, and already there's speculation it will differ considerably from the House draft. The Legislature ultimately must agree on a congressional map, and then that will go to Gov. Nikki Haley for her approval or veto. And finally, the U.S. Justice Department must sign off on the plan because South Carolina is one of a number of Southern states that has not escaped its long history of discrimination against minority voters.

Greenville County is an economic powerhouse in the state although its political influence has been diminished in recent years. The county most often has been the home of the 4th District congressional representative, but that changed last year when Spartanburg County prosecutor Trey Gowdy solidly defeated incumbent Rep. Bob Inglis in the Republican primary.

The House draft of the new congressional districts should provide the proper wake-up call for Greenville County. If it doesn't, our county could find itself carved up like a Thanksgiving turkey by the time the Legislature gets through redrawing the congressional map.

Mideast doctrine analyze

Herewith President Obama's May 15 Middle East speech, annotated:

"It will be the policy of the United States to promote reform across the region, and to support transitions to democracy"

With this Barack Obama openly, unreserved and without a trace of irony or self-reflection adopts the Bush Doctrine, which made the spread of democracy a key U.S. objective in the Middle East.

"Too many leaders in region tried to direct the people's grievances elsewhere. The West was blamed as the source of ills."

Note how even Obama's rationale matches Bush's.

Bush argued that because the roots of 9/11 were to be found in the deflected anger of repressed Middle Eastern peoples, our response would require a democratic transformation of the region.

"We have a stake not in the stability of nation but in the self-determination of individuals."

A fine critique of exactly the kind of "realism" the Obama administration prided itself for having

Election Laws Subcommittee
Hon. Alan Clemmons, Chairman
Room 522B
PO Box 11867
Columbia, SC 29211-1867

Chairman Clemmons and members of the Elections Laws Subcommittee:

I regret that my schedule will not allow me to appear before you today to speak on an issue of utmost importance to the citizens of Aiken County, this region, and our state. While I am certainly interested in the eventual makeup of our local South Carolina House and Senate districts, the Congressional redistricting for our state is of particular interest to Aiken County. This re-districting, as required by the US Constitution after the decennial census, will have a lasting impact on the economy and viability of our region and state.

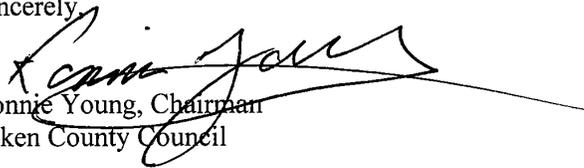

Currently, Aiken County contains a portion of both Congressional Districts 2 and 3. While some counties may prefer to be wholly contained within one district, I contend that having two districts within our county strengthens our representation in Washington, D.C., particularly regarding the Savannah River Site. While the entire South Carolina Congressional Delegation has been invaluable in our efforts to protect and expand the missions at Savannah River Site, I strongly believe that having two Congressmen with portions of the site and our county within their respective districts has been a great advantage when matters regarding the site are considered.

Election Laws Subcommittee

Savannah River Site is by far the biggest economic engine in Aiken County and this region, and ranks as one of South Carolina's biggest assets. I hope that you will strongly consider the impact of SRS, the number of jobs and investments it brings to Aiken County, and the importance of future missions when making recommendations for the new Congressional Districts. I appreciate your time and attention to this very important matter.

By copy of this letter, I am urging the other members of Aiken County Council to contact you via letter or in person at the hearings.

Please send this to all committee members.

Last Thursday, I had the great honor to speak to this committee during the meeting in Myrtle Beach. I'm not sure if I shared all of my points clearly. We drove up from vacation in Charleston just for this meeting and I didn't make any notes until after I signed the register to speak.

I'm included links to (and attaching copies of the excerpts incase the links are gone) a couple of News articles related to Horry County average weekly wage for 2009. The base wage did not increase in 2010, in fact, I believe it went down a little as many people were laid off in 2010. Horry County is the largest county east of the Mississippi and has the fifth largest population in South Carolina. The next two other counties in the US with the second and third lowest wages were in Texas. Sun News <http://www.thesunnews.com/2010/10/19/1762055/horry-county-ranks-worst-for-wages.html>; and The State <http://www.thestate.com/2010/10/23/1525831/horry-county-last-in-wages-again.html>; and the US Bureau of Labor Statistics <http://www.bls.gov/ro4/qcewsc.pdf>.

To improve Horry County wages to a living wage requires diversifying our business base to include light manufacturing jobs, high tech jobs, distribution jobs, transportation jobs and much more. The only way we can do that is to have a major highway such as I73/I74 come to the Grand Strand. To get the highway, we have been relying on a few people in significant leadership positions who also have other priorities in other parts of the state. We need a broader curriculum at the local University and Technical College in our area. To broaden the educational opportunities and the higher skilled jobs requires a broader employer base in higher technology products. We can't draw these types of employers because we don't have the infrastructure (highways and rail) to allow them to move their products at economical rates

This presents a catch-22 for our local government officials. If we are granted the opportunity of a new Congressional District encompassing the old District 6 of many years ago, then the northeastern part of the state can grow significantly over the next 10 years. We can become an economic force within the state if given a chance. If the new Congressional district is drawn in another part of the state, Horry County will be relegated to low wages and lost opportunities for the next 10 years.

The Spartanburg area is already a healthy economic region and is thriving with diversity of high tech higher paying jobs. Horry County, as the fifth largest county in South Carolina in population, I believe it I the most deserving area for more legislative support, both in South Carolina and in Congress.

Many retirees are looking at relocating to the Grand Strand. It is a wonderful area with a moderate climate and quality of life. Many retirees also bring new businesses and jobs with them. Again, they look at transportation options as well as a trained workforce. Awarding Horry County region the new Congressional district brings a cascading effect of transportation, education, jobs, higher wages, etc.

I would think that the legislature would want to do everything possible to position South Carolina as a premier state. If we retain the title of the lowest of one of the bottom 10 counties with the lowest average wage, you effectively drive new businesses away from this area. I urge you to give priority to the northeastern part of the state.

Thank you for giving us the opportunity to share our thoughts.

Sincerely,

Dear House Members: As Chairman of Spartanburg County Council, I wanted to let you know that we are definitely opposed to Spartanburg County being split and taken out of the 4th Congressional District during the Redistricting process. We are concerned that such a move would be detrimental to the future of Spartanburg County. Please do anything you can do to keep us in the 4th Congressional District. Thanks, Jeff Horton Jeff

Hello Linda,

I understand that there is a redistricting plan originating in the SC Senate as well. Is that correct? If so, can you kindly forward me a link to the Senate page.

I appreciate your time and effort.

Yours,
Scott West

Subject: Reporter's question about congressional plan

Hi Patrick,

I am filing a story on Monday about the congressional plans that have been approved by the SC House and SC Senate, but I wanted to check with you to make sure I understood some basic information.

Are the "two" different congressional plans that lawmakers refer to simply the House-passed version versus the Senate passed version of H. 3992?

Grateful for any help.

Best,
Sarita

Dear House Members: As Chairman of Spartanburg County Council, I wanted to let you know that we are definitely opposed to Spartanburg County being split and taken out of the 4th Congressional District during the Redistricting process. We are concerned that such a move would be detrimental to the future of Spartanburg County. Please do anything you can do to keep us in the 4th Congressional District. Thanks, Jeff Horton Jeff

Dear Representative Alan Clemmons,

Please allow this letter to serve as my response to the most-recent re-districting map that I have seen come out of the House Redistricting Sub-Committee.

While I support the current configuration of US House Seats in South Carolina, I understand that the current configuration will change due to the additional seat we South Carolinians are gaining due to current census numbers.

Therefore, I look favorably upon the map produced in the House Sub-Committee which affects the 1st Congressional District.

Thank you.

I think if it concerns Kershaw County, then the meetings should be held here in KC, so that hard working people like myself could be more able to attend, this is a very unfair advantage!

I am disappointed at the way the redistricting has been done thus far. I hope there is going to be more studyir done on this, and the the voters will have more input into how the lines will be drawn.

Perhaps you may consider putting Tubeville, Barrineau, & Hicks in the seventh congressional seat. Not tryir to sound pushy, but we do have friends and family that live in Horry, Pee Dee, and areas that will be affected We will campaign hard if our voices are not heard.

Spoke with Rep. Lowe today on the phone and he was very receptive to my concerns. Told him I appreciated him calling me back to discuss this with me.

Look forward to hearing from you. You may contact me at 843-598-1828. Thanks so much fo taking the tir to talk to me on this concern.

I believe that we are better represented with two congressmen. This probably gives Aiken County representation on twice as many House Committees. This could prove to be helpful. Thank for considering my opinion. Joe Ortaldo

Subject: 1 or 2 Congressmen

Under the present arrangement, Aiken County can count on 2 votes to hopefully vote the way we would want them to. If redistricting left us with one Congressman, everyone would know who he was and he would not have to consider the wishes of constituents o/s the County. This would also increase the power of the County Republican party and club, since they would not have to divide their influence (= power) between 2 Congressmen and could concentrate on influencing only one.

I could live with either arrangement as there are plusses and minuses under either arrangement.

Keep up the good work.

Subject: Aiken County One Congressman or Two?

Representative Taylor,

Given the financial situation that SC as is in, and the need to eliminate multiple opinions that at times are more than a little confusing, I'd suggest that Aiken County be representative by one (1) Congressman. Yes, Aiken County covers a large geographical area, however, with availability of the electronic communication capabilities we have today, reaching the populace of Aiken County is but a click away. This would also consolidate the voice of constituents through one representative, enhancing the total input to our Aiken County citizens, eliminate salary, benefit and pension cost to SC taxpayers, and allow one voice to speak for all of Aiken County citizens. We don't need bigger State Government, we don't need more duplicate and redundant positions, to rubber stamp messages that serve no purpose other than adding another layer of bureaucracy and taxation cost to our taxpayers.

Respectfully,

Fred & Carol Hoefle

Chuck

Great summary. For the record, your remarks hit the key issue. The decision for where the new congressional seat should be located should be primarily on economic interests for the state as a whole.

The northeast section of this state is a proven valuable entity that has great expansion opportunities, both long and short term, for significant economic development. This "I73 business corridor" congressional seat would give much needed but so far missing focused federal emphasis that would complement state actions:

1. Greatly increased returns to the state coffers via expanded tourism,
2. Open up expanded transportation and related business center opportunities for these from the depressed counties along the "I73 business corridor". that absolutely need higher skill job opportunities
3. With existing structure for regional cooperation (NIST).

It is very clear, I think, that the solution of the new congressional seat will have the most positive impact on the state than any other possibility.

Please send this to all committee members.

Last Thursday, I had the great honor to speak to this committee during the meeting in Myrtle Beach. I'm not sure if I shared all of my points clearly. We drove up from vacation in Charleston just for this meeting and I didn't make any notes until after I signed the register to speak.

I'm included links to (and attaching copies of the excerpts incase the links are gone) a couple of News articles related to Horry County average weekly wage for 2009. The base wage did not increase in 2010, in fact, I believe it went down a little as many people were laid off in 2010. Horry County is the largest county east of the Mississippi and has the fifth largest population in South Carolina. The next two other counties in the US with the second and third lowest wages were in Texas. Sun News <http://www.thesunnews.com/2010/10/19/1762055/horry-county-ranks-worst-for-wages.html>; and The State <http://www.thestate.com/2010/10/23/1525831/horry-county-last-in-wages-again.html>; and the US Bureau of Labor Statistics <http://www.bls.gov/ro4/qcewsc.pdf>.

To improve Horry County wages to a living wage requires diversifying our business base to include light manufacturing jobs, high tech jobs, distribution jobs, transportation jobs and much more. The only way we can do that is to have a major highway such as I73/I74 come to the Grand Strand. To get the highway, we have been relying on a few people in significant leadership positions who also have other priorities in other parts of the state. We need a broader curriculum at the local University and Technical College in our area. To broaden the educational opportunities and the higher skilled jobs requires a broader employer base in higher technology products. We can't draw these types of employers because we don't have the infrastructure (highways and rail) to allow them to move their products at economical rates

This presents a catch-22 for our local government officials. If we are granted the opportunity of a new Congressional District encompassing the old District 6 of many years ago, then the northeastern part of the state can grow significantly over the next 10 years. We can become an economic force within the state if given a chance. If the new Congressional district is drawn in another part of the state, Horry County will be relegated to low wages and lost opportunities for the next 10 years.

The Spartanburg area is already a healthy economic region and is thriving with diversity of high tech higher paying jobs. Horry County, as the fifth largest county in South Carolina in population, I believe it I the most deserving area for more legislative support, both in South Carolina and in Congress.

Many retirees are looking at relocating to the Grand Strand. It is a wonderful area with a moderate climate and quality of life. Many retirees also bring new businesses and jobs with them. Again, they look at transportation options as well as a trained workforce. Awarding Horry County region the new Congressional district brings a cascading effect of transportation, education, jobs, higher wages, etc.

I would think that the legislature would want to do everything possible to position South Carolina as a premier state. If we retain the title of the lowest of one of the bottom 10 counties with the lowest average wage, you effectively drive new businesses away from this area. I urge you to give priority to the northeastern part of the state.

Thank you for giving us the opportunity to share our thoughts.

Please send this to all committee members.

Last Thursday, I had the great honor to speak to this committee during the meeting in Myrtle Beach. I'm not sure if I shared all of my points clearly. We drove up from vacation in Charleston just for this meeting and I didn't make any notes until after I signed the register to speak.

I'm included links to (and attaching copies of the excerpts incase the links are gone) a couple of News articles related to Horry County average weekly wage for 2009. The base wage did not increase in 2010, in fact, I believe it went down a little as many people were laid off in 2010.
