Subject: SC Senate Redistricting

Senate Redistricting Committee Members:
Colleton County has been divided into three senate districts for the past ten years, having no effective electorial influence on any of the senators. This, in effect, prevents us fron having a real represnetation in the state senate. It is important to the citizens of Colleton County that we remain as one county within the district of one senator. I urge the committee to implement Staff Plan 2 which keeps Colleton County whole, with only one senator representing our county.
Thank you,
Charles W. Lucas
Walterboro City Councilman

2011 REDISTRICTING GUIDELINES

These Guidelines are drawn in part from the guidelines adopted for prior redistricting, the 2002 opinion of the three-judge court in Colleton County Council v. McConnell, other court decisions over the past decade, and input received in public hearings across the State.

I. REQUIREMENTS OF FEDERAL LAW

A. Population equality

1. Legislative districts

The Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution requires an honest and good faith effort to construct legislative districts as nearly of equal population as is practicable. The good faith effort required by the Fourteenth Amendment does not preclude the pursuit of legitimate redistricting policies such as making districts compact, respecting political subdivision boundaries, preserving the cores of prior districts, and avoiding contests between incumbent legislators. Any redistricting plan with population deviation ranges of greater than ten percent (10%) between the most-populous and least-populous districts is presumptively unlawful unless the good faith effort required by the Constitution is proven. So that the State may avoid assuming this additional burden under federal law, population deviations of individual districts shall be within plus (+) or minus (-) of five percent (5%) of the ideal population and within an overall range of less than ten percent (10%). This guideline does not affect the requirement of an honest and good faith effort to construct districts as nearly of equal population as is practicable.

2. Congressional districts

Under the apportionment clause of Article I, Section 2 of the U.S. Constitution, any population deviation among congressional districts, no matter how small, must be justified through a showing that the specific deviation is required by legitimate redistricting policies such as making districts compact, respecting political subdivision boundaries, preserving the cores of prior districts, and avoiding contests between incumbent Representatives. So that the State may avoid assuming this additional burden under federal law, a congressional redistricting plan should not have population deviations greater than one (1) person.

B. Voting rights – A redistricting plan for the General Assembly or Congress must not have either the purpose or the effect of diluting minority voting strength and must otherwise comply with Sections 2 and 5 of the Voting Rights Act and the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

C. Avoidance of racial gerrymandering – All plans must comply with the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, as interpreted by the United States Supreme Court in Shaw v. Reno and subsequent cases. Under those cases, while consideration of race is permissible, race must not be the predominant factor in that race-neutral considerations are subordinated to racial considerations, unless that subordination is narrowly tailored to serve a compelling state interest.

II. CONTIGUITY – All legislative and congressional districts should be composed of contiguous geography. Contiguity by water is acceptable to link territory within a district provided that there is a reasonable opportunity to access all parts of the district and the linkage is designed to meet the other criteria stated herein. Point-to-point contiguity is acceptable so long as adjacent districts do not use the same vertex as points of transversal.

III. ADDITIONAL CONSIDERATIONS – Other criteria that should be given consideration, where practical and appropriate, in no particular order of preference, are:

A. Communities of Interest

B. Constituent Consistency

C. Not Dividing County Boundaries

D. Not dividing Municipal Boundaries

E. Voting Precinct Boundaries – Voting precinct boundaries are represented by the Census Bureau's Voting Tabulation District (VTD) lines. Both existing lines and pending precinct boundary realignments should be considered. If precincts are split, every effort should be made to divide precincts along recognizable and demonstrable boundaries.

F. District Compactness – In determining the relative compactness of a district, consideration should be given to geography, demography, communities of interest, and the extent to which parts of the district are joined by roads, media outlets, or other means for constituents to communicate effectively with each other and with their representative.

IV. DATA – The total state population and the population of the defined subunits thereof, as reported by the 2010 Federal Decennial Census, shall be the exclusive permissible population database used for the development, evaluation, and analysis of proposed redistricting plans. Other succinct and importable sources of demographic and political information may be considered in drafting and analyzing proposed redistricting plans.

Testimony of Katie O'Connor, Staff Attorney, Voting Rights Project
Prepared for the Senate Subcommittee on Redistricting
June 20, 2011

My name is Katie O'Connor, and I submit this testimony on behalf of the American Civil Liberties Union Voting Rights Project and the ACLU of South Carolina. The ACLU's national Voting Rights Project is an independent and nonpartisan voting rights advocacy group with substantial experience and technical expertise in redistricting. The ACLU has participated in drafting dozens of congressional and state legislative plans and innumerable local redistrictings since the 1970s.

I submit this testimony in order to present to the subcommittee the ACLU's proposed redistricting plan for South Carolina's congressional seats. The plan that we propose follows the traditional redistricting principles that were adopted by this subcommittee in its guidelines. Congressman Clyburn resides in our proposed district 7, but all other incumbents are kept in their current districts.

One-person one-vote

To satisfy the requirements of Article 1, § 2 of the U.S. Constitution, as interpreted in White v. Weiser, South Carolina is required to draw congressional districts with populations that are "as mathematically equal as reasonably possible." This committee's guidelines further require that congressional redistricting plans have no more than a 1-person deviation. Given modern technology and the large size of congressional districts, it is generally possible to draw plans with virtually no deviations at all.

The ACLU's congressional plan is well within the bounds set by this subcommittee and by the Supreme Court. No district deviates in population by more than 1 person.

Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act

Our congressional plan also complies with Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act. Under the Voting Rights Act, South Carolina is required to submit its redistricting plan to the Department of Justice, or to the District Court for the District of Columbia, for preclearance. In order to have its plan precleared, the state must show that the plan "does not have the purpose and will not have the effect of denying or abridging the right to vote on account of race or color." The U.S. Supreme Court, in Beer v. United States, stated that the purpose of the preclearance requirement "has always been to insure that no voting-procedure changes would be made that would lead to a retrogression in the position of racial minorities with respect to their effective exercise of the electoral franchise. " In the redistricting context, retrogression occurs if the new plan provides fewer majority-minority districts or if the plan diminishes the ability of African American voters to elect candidates of their choice.

The ACLU plan for South Carolina's seven congressional seats is not retrogressive – it maintains a workable majority in the existing majority-minority district and increases the number of majority-minority districts to two. The benchmark against which the Department of Justice or the district court will compare the new redistricting plan to determine whether it is retrogressive is the current congressional plan using 2010 census data. Under the benchmark plan, district 6 is a majority-minority district. The ACLU plan maintains the benchmark majority-minority district and creates an additional majority-minority district in district 7.

In the ACLU plan, the majority-minority population of the district 6 is slightly reduced from 52.08% BVAP (black voting age population) to 50.87% BVAP, but remains well over 50% BVAP. This is a sufficient majority for VRA purposes under Bartlett v. Strickland. In the ACLU plan, the majority-minority population of the new district 7 is 50.47% BVAP.

Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act

Our plan also meets the standards of Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act. Thornburgh v. Gingles laid out the three factors that must be met in order for a plan to be challenged under Section 2. Those factors are: 1) a minority group must be sufficiently large and geographically compact to comprise a majority of the district; 2) the minority group must be politically cohesive (it must demonstrate a pattern of voting for the same candidates); and, 3) white voters must vote sufficiently as a bloc usually to defeat the minority group's preferred candidate

Our plan demonstrates that the first Gingles factor is satisfied for district 7. Our district 7 is as compact as existing districts. The total black population is 52.89%, and the BVAP is 50.47%. Again, under Bartlett v. Strickland, this is sufficient to meet the first Gingles factor. Additional analyses will likely determine that the minority population in district 7 votes cohesively and that the majority population usually votes as a block to defeat the minority-preferred candidate, satisfying the second and third Gingles factors.

Shaw Line of Cases

Our plan complies with the principles set out in the Shaw line of cases. The additional majority-minority district that our plan proposes is district 7. This district is as compact as existing districts and is entirely contiguous. District 7 has a deviation of zero. Our plan limits precinct and county line splits, and appropriately considers communities of interest. The ACLU plan complies with the Shaw line of cases by giving appropriate consideration to traditional redistricting principles, as well as complying with the Voting Rights Act.

Contiguity

The ACLU congressional plan is entirely contiguous as defined in this committee's guidelines.

County Lines

The ACLU congressional plan splits only 20 of the state's 46 counties.

VTD/Precinct Lines

The necessity of mathematical equality in population among the districts generally requires at least a few precinct splits. The ACLU congressional plan contains only six split precincts. For comparison, the subcommittee's proposed plan splits 21 precincts.

Compactness

Districts in the ACLU congressional plan are very compact.
